

CIRCUS ATTRACTED CROWD OF CURIOUS

PERSONS TO THE "LOT" ALL DAY SUNDAY, WHO WATCHED EVERY DETAIL OF THE WORK.

MANY VISITED TENTS

Peeped Inside and Watched How the Circus Folks Live, Eat, Dress and Wondered Where They Slept.

Mythically it is believed that only the small boy is the one who is interested in circuses. The average youngster is the member of the family who can tell to a minute when the first train arrived and just how long it took to haul the first wagon to the "lot" and how much time it took to get the menagerie tent up. Of course this is theory, for in reality, the father or mother of the household is just as interested in the children and soon view at the interesting things that surround the Gollmar Brothers tents at Sunday, would have convinced the most skeptical of this fact.

This is the first stand for the show for the present season. They opened in Baraboo, their headquarters, on Saturday to a "turn away" crowd and left there late Saturday night for Janesville. This is the fourth season for the show and the five brothers, who began their show business as modestly twenty years ago, with a few wagons and cages now have a twenty-four car train and travel in state as does any other circus.

Four hundred and seventy men sat and showed their teeth at the "lot" who sat inside the bars with them. The horses were unusually fine, and showed good care.

This afternoon there were good sized crowds at the show tent to witness the performance which had three rings and a platform with plenty of aerial trapeze work, and the funny clowns, with their strange antics. The four Gollmar Brothers are cousins of the Ringlings and their show is modeled along the same lines that have made these showmen famous in the circus world. It is a clean performance and the people with it are all clean and hard working people, who are artists in their particular line.

From here the show goes to De Kalb and then for two weeks journey through Illinois and Indiana and then goes into Michigan.

EDGERTON MAN FELL DEAD AT HIS HOME

Frank Walker Dropped Dead Yesterday Shortly After Noon—Was Life Long Resident of County.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, May 8.—Apparently in the best of health and without any complaint that he had been at all, Frank Walker, aged 52, suddenly dropped dead at his home in this city, shortly after noon Sunday. Walker had gone into the woodshed when he was overcome and fell. Death came instantly. Heart failure is the cause ascribed by physicians.

Walker had been a life long resident of Rock County and was born on this Walker homestead in the town of Fulton, June 4, 1858. In 1880 he was married to Miss Ellen Hanson, who died three years afterwards. To this union were born

STREET WORK KEEPS COMMISSIONER BUSY

Twenty-three Men and Eight Teams accomplishing the Annual Spring House Cleaning.

"One of the busiest men in the city this spring is the new street commissioner, D. F. Wilkins. His long experience in the street work has taught him what is needed and he is making haste to get the spring cleaning over before the work of the summer overtakes him.

He started an innovation Saturday night when he kept a crew of men at work all night to have the streets clean for Sunday and they showed the effect of the work. "I wish I could get all this cleaning of the streets done all over before morning," said Mr. Wilkins. "It would simplify matters considerably. It would also make the city look neater and cleaner on Sunday when so many people are on the streets in autos and walking."

Mr. Wilkins also has a good idea about the ward work and would like to see men detailed to each ward who would have the care of that particular territory to look after. "I think this would bring about better results for all concerned," he said today. "Also I have a suggestion to property owners that will improve the looks of the city and also save the city money. That is to have them take all the refuse left from their spring bonfire, which is usually burned in the gutter, and carry it back to their own yard pile and not leave it block the gutters and dirty the street."

Mr. Wilkins has started in with the right spirit and if given the proper backing by the common council, to make a most excellent superintendent. He knows his business thoroughly and with a true spirit would keep the present good streets in repair and gradually build up those that need attention.

There were three others working on the bridge at the time and they immediately came to the rescue. A rope was thrown and Smith secured a hold and was drawn out the first time up. He became suspicious and when several of the box car travelers advanced, Cronin grasped his dinner pail firmly in his hand and started for the nearest hobo. With this demonstration of resistance three of the men fled and Cronin battered the other two with his dinner pail with good results. He escaped unscathed except for a bruise on the side of the face to remind him of his encounter. The thugs secured nothing. These men are becoming more and more numerous and trouble is reported by all the trainmen with this class of people.

THEATERS

"THE ROSARY"

A new play to be produced in this city at the Myers Theatre Saturday, May 13, matinee and evening, is "The Rosary" and it has just completed a successful three months engagement in Chicago; another company is playing to crowded houses at the Globe Theatre in Boston, where it is destined to run throughout the year.

It is from the pen of Edward E. Ross and produced by the well known theatrical managers, Messrs. W. T. Goshell and Karl G. MacVitty. The play deals with conditions in the American home of today. To prove this, a typical American family is shown. A young wife, a devoted husband, their friends and all the beautiful surroundings that wealth can secure.

Discord enters their home. No one knows whence it came, but it grows to a suspicion and doubt; the household is rent and happiness is gone. Then rises the other power, a higher spiritual note which brings the discordant souls of the family back to peace and happiness.

In some homes the cause has only just begun; in others misery and sorrow are always at the door.

John W. Vogel's big city minstrelns travel in swell private cars, and when they appear here Thursday, May 11, at Myers Theatre, they will appear in rolling palaces that cost a fortune, and afford comfort and luxury. The minstrelns of today do not fly-by-night.

BILLY BURKE, COMEDIAN WITH JOHN W. VOGEL'S MINSTRELS.

Myers Theatre, Thursday, May 11 to escape the tavernkeeper; neither do they tour overland by horse-power, as did the "old-timers" for many years, as has since been revived by references in many tales of fiction and allusion in the rural dramas of the stage. And with all the fame of the cross-road pioneers, they were lucky to take in as much money in a week as Vogel gathers in a day. Indeed this is an age of huge affairs.

Father Hunted the Answer.

A school teacher in Allegheny, Pa., got this note the other day: "Dear Mum: Please excuse Johnny today he will not be at school. He is acting as timekeeper for his father. Last night you give him this example. If a field is 4 miles square how long will it take a man, walking 3 miles an hour, to walk 2 1/2 times around it? Johnny ain't no man so we had to send papa. They left early this morning, and papa said they ought to be back late tonight, though it would be hard going. Dear Mum, please make the next one about Jesus, as I can get away, and papa can't afford to lose the day's work. Reply yrs."

NO DECISION.

Dad and George were engaged in one of their interminable disputes over the past and present.

"Anyway," said George, "we dance better than you do."

"Dance?" spluttered dad. "That ain't dancing. Here, let me show you."

And he began turning round like a teetotum, and then the rug on the polished floor slipped from under him and he came down with a crash that shook all the magazines from the library table.

"Let me show you," cried George, and he gave a skip and a slide that carried him clear under the piano and banged his head savagely against the rosewood stool.

And the question remains undecided.

Famous Men Tall and Short.

Among the very distinguished men of the country were some of large stature—Charles Sumner, more than six feet, four inches; Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, considerably more than six feet in height. Among those of six feet and over may be mentioned Samuel Adams, George Washington, Lincoln, Bismarck, Thackeray, Charles Darwin, Henry Ward Beecher, Rufus Choate and Daniel O'Connell. The list of famous men of medium height is long, including Browning and John Adams.

Occupation for Women.

Two women, maybe more, occupy novel positions in the business world in New York. These women are employed by a number of wholesale dress goods and millinery houses to entertain women buyers from out of town. They entertain the visitors at dinner, in the theater, and make the sojourners' stay in New York pleasant. The expense, of course, is charged to the houses employing them. The individual charges of these women entertainers usually are about one-fourth of the total expense.

Mosquito Extermination.

NEW SUFFRAGE BILL
IN BRITISH COMMONS

Measure If Passed Will Enfranchise One-Half of Female Population—Removes Bar to Matrons.

London, May 8.—The suffragettes and their supporters in parliament, nothing if not persistent, have introduced in the house of commons another bill "to enable women to vote at parliamentary elections."

This latest bill adds to the existing franchise a system of female enfranchisement which would give the vote to a larger proportion of women than did the bill of last year, which merely removed the disqualification of sex and marriage, and was opposed by Chancellor Lloyd George and other cabinet ministers on the ground that it would only enfranchise the wealthier classes.

Last year's bill, if passed, would have enfranchised about one-tenth of the adult female population. The present bill would enfranchise nearly one-half.

Under the present franchise a male owner or tenant of premises can exercise the franchise. Only a very few married women could qualify as "owner and tenant" of the premises they and their husbands jointly inhabit. The present bill meets this point by definitely enacting that when a husband and wife reside together in premises for which the husband is entitled to vote, the wife should be entitled to register as joint occupier. Plural voting, allowed to men, is prohibited by women under the bill.

ASKS CONGRESS TO IMPEACH.

Petition Attacks Two Governors and Judge in McNamara Case.

Washington, May 8.—Impeachment of Governor Johnson of California, Governor Marshall of Indiana and Judge Collins of Indianapolis is demanded by citizens and trade union leaders of Duluth, Minn., as a result of the arrest and extradition of J. J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. Representative Miller of Minnesota filed the petition in the house. It protests against "this high-handed outrage," and "flagrant violation of constitutional rights."

The protest was referred to the committee on judiciary.

LEAPS FROM TRAIN INTO RIVER.

Forgery Suspect Makes Escape, But Is Believed to Have Drowned.

Linton, Ind., May 8.—Jumping from a window of a train while it was going at the rate of 40 miles an hour, into the Ohio river, John Tucker, alias C. W. Wilson, who was being returned here from Elizabethtown, Ill., to stand trial on the charge of forgery, made his escape from officers. The train was stopped and men in boats searched the river, but no trace of the man could be found. It is believed he was drowned.

Some men live in the country, some in the city; others just exist.—Judge.

HALT ON ROCKEFELLER'S
FOUNDATION PROJECT

Attorney General's Opinion Is That Plan Is Unfriendly to Interests of United States.

Washington, May 8.—Attorney General Wickham, in an opinion given to the president, has condemned the Rockefeller foundation as unwise and inimical to the interests of the United States, inasmuch as it is calculated to perpetuate the huge fortune which John D. Rockefeller has amassed.

As a result, it is believed the bill enrolling the foundation will be vetoed if it is sent to the president for signature.

Mr. Wickham holds that the inevitable result of such an incorporation would be not only to keep intact the millions of John D. Rockefeller for his descendants, but to continually increase this wealth in the hands of a few, regardless of what philanthropic motives might have inspired the plan.

Further objection is made to the creation of a corporation with powers so broad that its directors might take any action they chose in furtherance of what they might consider the promotion of human progress, subject only to congress' right to repeal the charter.

Senator Chaffee introduced the bill, and two weeks later had it reported favorably from committee. Of the incorporators and first board of directors, two were Mr. Rockefeller and his son, and two others his personal representatives, thus giving the Rockefeller interests control as long as they desired to hold it.

No restrictions were placed on their procedure, except that the charter might be amended and that they should each year report to a cabinet officer what work the corporation had done.

Hence, the power granted, Mr. Wickham believes, is entirely too great to be placed in the hands of any set of individuals. His stand in the matter doubtless will set a precedent which will work to prevent the perpetuation of individual fortunes in the future by corporate means.

PLANS RECIPROCITY CAMPAIGN.

Laurier's Party to Work Hard During Adjournment of Parliament.

Ottawa, Ont., May 8.—The adjournment of parliament for two months while Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Canadian parliamentary delegation are in England attending the coronation will mark the beginning of an educational campaign for reciprocity throughout Canada under the direction of the liberal members of the house.

The opponents of the agreement have planned a similar campaign against ratification.

The government is confident that the result of the campaign will be the creation of so strong a demand for ratification that the conservatives will not be able to continue their bluster when parliament resumes, provided the United States senate in the meantime takes favorable action.

TWO LAWYERS KILLED IN AUTO.

Denver and New York Attorneys Victims of Accident in Colorado.

Denver, Colo., May 8.—E. F. Richardson of Denver and Horace N. Grandfield of New York, both attorneys, were killed in an automobile accident 20 miles from Denver. Richardson was counsel for William D. Haywood in his trial for the alleged killing of Governor Steunenberg of Idaho.

Richardson, his wife, two children, Grandfield and two other men went to Louisville Junction. On their return they met another automobile as they rounded a sharp turn, and in attempting to avoid a collision the car went over an embankment and upset, plunging the seven passengers beneath. Mrs. Richardson and her children were severely bruised.

Crippen's Money.

American lawyers will be interested to learn the London court has cut Clara Lavevo out of any share of the estate of Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen. Clara Crippen left more than $4800 in furs and jewels, besides money in two banks. The Lavevo girl were one of the rings when she and Crippen were caught on the steamship in the St. Lawrence. Ordinarily, under the law, Mrs. Crippen's property would have been inherited by her husband. He had made a will leaving to Miss Lavevo whatever he possessed. The court, in deciding against Lavevo, followed the ruling of the lords justice of appeal in the case of Mrs. Florence Maybrick, where it was held it would be against public policy to let her or her representatives share in the insurance on her slain husband's life. Thus, as Crippen couldn't inherit it, neither could Miss Lavevo, his representative.

Sturdy Iceland Horses.

The use of Iceland horses is spreading in Denmark, especially in Jutland; they are excellent farm horses, being hardy and resistant to fatigue. The Iceland horse is small, stoutly built and strong. They are bred without selection and live in an almost wild state. There are about 45,000 of these horses in Iceland; from 3,000 to 4,000 are exported yearly, to Denmark and to England and Scotland.

DUCKS ON DRY LAND

THOUSANDS OF THEM GET WATER ONLY FOR DRINKING.

How the Indian Runners Are Raised for the Market in New Jersey—Some Lay Two Eggs a Day.

Raising ducks on dry land reads to the layman very much like running a locomotive without steam, and yet ducks—Indian runner ducks, the Leg-horns of the duck family—are raised generation after generation with only the water they drink and what little is contained in their food.

On a plot of ground two and one-half acres in extent, not all of which is utilized for the purpose, Joseph W. Seull, at Vineland, N. J., carries 450 Indian runner ducks in ten houses with large runs. This is the fourth year of Mr. Seull's experience with ducks—previously he raised chickens for eleven years—and he unhesitatingly recommends Indian runners in preference to chickens.

Beginning with four females and one male, artificial incubation and brooding produced this flock in the time stated, and a hardy, handsome flock it is, according to Country Life in America. The eggs are fine eating, being larger and richer than hens' eggs.

With the Indian runner duck we find some peculiar conditions, so peculiar as to be almost beyond belief. Kept in confinement, forced with food for egg production, some ducks, or possibly every duck, will on some days lay two eggs, usually the second egg soft shelled and laid late in the afternoon. This soft shelled egg has been changed to a hard shelled one with the use of oyster shell fed in the mash in small quantities twice a week.

Again the duck is such an active arrangement, so honestly industrious that it devotes all of its energy during daylight to the making of the egg and rather consistently leaves it during the night when it can be secured in the morning, for the laying is done between midnight and 8 a. m.

For some reason they become frightened in the dark, running and flying in all directions, making as much noise as possible, materially reducing the egg output and frequently killing themselves, therefore they require a light in their sleeping quarters. A small lamp in the higher portion of the house at a safe distance from the roof is sufficient.

Although the Indian runners are active and nervous, kindness and constant association make them mild and tractable. The female is as noisy as who is active; the male can produce only a weak combination of an abbreviated squawk and a hiss. Sex is only determined by these vocal efforts and later in life by the turned up tail feathers of the male.

Those Selditz-Powder Men.

"If there is one thing I hate worse than another it is to go to a banquet or public gathering and find myself seated next to one of those selditz-powder men," said First Assistant Prosecutor Frederick R. Lehlbach recently.

"What on earth is a 'selditz-powder man'?" asked Fred Weimer, who overheard the remark.

"Why," continued Lehlbach, "he is a man who has an opinion on everything; who is everlastingly funny, or thinks he is, generally the latter; who is always telling you what 'my wife and I did'; what he is going to do tomorrow night; who has been in every place that is mentioned or has friends there; who tells such long stories that you miss your car; who is a selditz powder, only a selditz powder gets through afterwards some time."

"Look up the definition of selditz powder and see if it does not fit the man I have described."—Newark Star.

Rubbing Noses.

A Maori clergyman whose habitat is Chicago is apparently resolved to make himself unpopular with both sexes in America, for he would introduce among us his tribal custom of nose rubbing as a substitute for kissing. Here he will find our men and women united, whatever and however great the differences which in this day divide them. The practice is out of the question as a substitute, but it might be worth trying as a stage of progress or as a compromise in lovers' quarrels and conjugal differences. The maiden wooed but not yet won might coyly encourage her swain by conceding the preliminary nose rub while still withholding the first kiss, and in later days, as wedded wife, she might after a quarrel foreshadow the coming of reconciliation by the same process.

Thus the Drama Ended.

"Sign this paper," shouted the lawyer, "and save your son from disgrace!"

"How much time have I?" asked the parent—for he was in the last act of a melodrama.

"Ten minutes—plenty of time. Sign the paper and all will be well!"

"Lost—lost!" muttered the father, sobbing.

"Lost nothing. You have ten minutes. I tell you—and the pen is in your hand. Sign!"

"There is no time—there is no time! This is a new fountain pen, and it will not spill a drop of ink inside of twenty minutes!"

On such things do our fates depend!

Deeply Religious.

"Deeply religious is he?" "Yes, indeed. If he dines out on Friday, he tells nothing but fish stories."—Puck.

Latest Social Nuisance.
What we are chiefly suffering from just at this moment is the insatiable mania for experimenting with telepathy, with transference and uncanny "occultism" in general, which seems to have taken possession of society, says Home Chat. To-day you are confronted on all sides with professions of absolute faith in all sorts of antiquated superstitions which were supposed to have been discredited years ago.

Safeguarding the Children.
To the public in the elementary schools of Kiel, Germany, the local tramway company is distributing printed pamphlets bearing a series of hints for children crossing the roads. Among them are: "Keep to the right in walking on the pavement and do not stand at street corners. In crossing the road do so at right angle and not diagonally and at a spot where the road is narrowest."

"Hello" Equipment.

To do the hello work last year there were more than 258,000 miles of pole lines. There were more than five and a half million miles of pole wire and a half million miles of underground wire and nearly twenty-five thousand miles of submarine wire—total miles of wire, 11,842,212. The increase for the year was nearly a million and a quarter miles.

WHOLESALE REGULATION.

The statute books of every state are burdened with dead letter laws, created for the purpose of regulating or prohibiting moral evils, but inoperative because not backed by public sentiment and therefore never enforced.

The saloon has long been the target for this class of legislation, and will continue to be for time to come. If the regulatory laws now existing in Wisconsin were enforced, the saloons of the state would be driven out of business in less than six months, but they never will be because moral sentiment does not demand it. Many city ordinances along the line of regulation are inoperative for the same reason.

In spite of the multiplicity of these dead letter laws, now measures are constantly coming to the front in the hope that something practical may be found. One of these measures is now pending in the assembly at Madison, which contains merit which should command recognition and support.

It is known as "Hahn's divorce bill 730A," and seeks to divorce the brewery from the saloon business. The fact is generally known that the breweries either own or control a percentage of the saloons in every community. They furnish bonds for licenses, own the fixtures and practically furnish the capital for the business, and the recognized proprietor is frequently simply a bartender.

These conditions make it unfair for the men who have their own capital invested in the business, and results in overstocking the community with saloons which could not otherwise exist. Saloon men who have their own capital will certainly not oppose the measure.

It ought not to be opposed by the brewers, for they can devote all their time and money to manufacturing, which is their legitimate business. It will result in good to the state because it will lessen the number of saloons. The Madison Journal, in commenting, says:

"The bill provides that manufacturers of beer and other liquor cannot be retailers of beer and other liquors. The breweries would be divorced from saloons."

"It is recognized as wrong that railroads should own and operate coal mines. It is just as wrong that breweries should own and operate saloons. So long as breweries can own saloons, a saloon will be planted in every nook, corner, and hole that will give an additional outlet for brewery products. Any man of any standing is now set up in saloon business by breweries. The establishment of saloons is fostered with a strenuousness, a persistence, industriously day and night throughout the year. It is this forced propagation of saloons that is the biggest evil in the saloon. It is not a natural industry, but an artificially stimulated and over-developed industry. Most saloon-keepers are merely bartenders for breweries."

"The proposed bill has sanity in that it would restore the saloon business to a normal condition. The number of saloons would be governed by the natural demand. We would have less saloons and better saloons if the tremendous activity on the part of brokers to propagate saloons were discouraged."

REVERENCE FOR THE BIBLE.

"In his speech at the tercentenary of the English Bible at London, the Hon. Whitelaw Reid offered a little known saying of Lincoln. He said:

"In the darkest days of the Civil war Abraham Lincoln received in the White House a delegation of colored men who came from Baltimore to give him a Bible, and said to him:

"But in regard to this great book I have given to you. It is the best gift God has given to man. All the good Saviour gave to the world was communicated through this book. All things most desirable for man's welfare here and hereafter are to be found portrayed in it."

"There has been no President since Lincoln—there have been scarcely any before—who would not in varying phrases have said the same thing."

The Christian Science Monitor relates this little incident. It is significant to note that the men who have occupied the White House, revered the Bible. The nation may be corrupt in many ways, but it is a Christian nation at heart. Lincoln, Garfield, Hayes, Arthur, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft, were men who revered the Bible, and Cleveland was influenced by it while occupying the chair of chief executive.

HOUSEKEEPING EFFICIENCY.
 On Charles and Mary Barnard of Darkon, Conn., have established a house-keeping experiment station for the purpose of developing efficiency and economy in the kitchen. Bulletin No. 2 has to do with the economy of time in preparing a meal. It gives the number of steps necessary between the stove and the table, when no time is lost in false motions, and also deals with the question of fuel, and how to use it economically. This bulletin is issued monthly at $1.00 per year. They contain valuable information, out of the ordinary for the overworked housewife. A series of a dozen attractive cards, to hang in the kitchen, have been prepared and are for sale at a nickel apiece. They have to do with "Kitchen Wisdom," as will be noticed by the following:

"Lift your kitchen out of the slough of inactivity. So may the food you eat gain and transmit an added flavor."

1. A cheerful cook makes a fine dessert.
 2. Stir a smile into the pudding.
 3. "I forgot"—apologized the broth.
 4. Flavor the salad with the oil of loving kindness.
 5. Plain cooking—handsome children.
 6. Good service is half the dinner.
 7. Cleanliness and ruin the cake.
 8. Cleanliness is Godliness. Nature is clean.
 9. A merry heart makes light pastry.
 10. Clean hands and white bread.
 11. Order, cleanliness and know-how—these three; and the greatest of these is know-how.
 12. The hand that lifts the butter rules the world."

Just why President Diaz of Mexico refuses to resign is a question difficult to understand. He has accomplished a good work, during his long term of office, but he is 80 years old and his work is done. He has outlived his generation, and the younger men very naturally feel that he should retire. He has enjoyed all the honor connected with the office, and has nothing to gain by holding on. It is up to him to say how long the war shall continue.

The people said most emphatically, by their vote last November, that they wanted a change in the national administration. The republican party was discredited and rebuked and the democratic party strongly endorsed. Had it been presidential year the fall would have gone with the tide and democracy would have been in full swing. These are conditions which President Taft should recognize by giving the democratic House untrammelled freedom and all the responsibility.

Organized labor is not on trial at Los Angeles, and the investigation now being conducted is not a "capitalistic" investigation. Men accused of the dastardly crime have been arrested and indicted. If found guilty, every law-respecting citizen will say that they should pay the penalty. It is not a question of occupation nor affiliation, but of cold-blooded murder, pure and simple. If the man under suspicion are innocent, they have nothing to fear.

The typical New York City church is somewhat exclusive and the stranger finds it difficult to get within hailing distance of the usher, to say nothing of the man who occupies the pew. A city pastor tells of a man who wore his hat during service, giving as a reason the fact that he had been a regular attendant for two years without attracting attention. The usher spoke to him as he passed out.

That the tariff is a local issue is demonstrated by the opposition to the Canadian reciprocity measure. The men who have been talking reform the loudest and who have demanded tariff revision most strenuously, are up in arms over the proposition to establish free trade relations with Canada. It always makes a difference whose ox is gored.

The Illinois legislature has taken a day off in the Lorimer investigation to advance the important measure of long sheets for the hotels. It is well to look after sanitary conditions in every department, and Lorimer has absorbed so much time that the every-day microbe has been neglected.

A number of Boston pastors resigned their pastorates recently to seek some occupation where they could make a living. Many churches throughout the country are having a struggle for existence, and the fact is being impressed that consolidation is necessary.

Recent developments at the state university indicate that ex-Governor Boardman would not be willing to resign when he gave his reasons for resigning from the board of regents. The state school has been freely used in developing the great uplift movement, and has suffered accordingly.

Musicians Meet in Atlanta.
 Atlanta, Ga., May 8.—The American Federation of Musicians, one of the most prosperous and influential labor organizations in America, began its annual convention in this city today with a large attendance of delegates from all over the United States and Canada. The sessions will last through the entire week and will be devoted to the consideration of numerous questions of importance to the musicians from the business viewpoint. The competition of regular army bands with civilian organizations and measures to further restrict the importation of foreign musical organizations and musicians are among the matters to receive attention. President Joseph Weber of Cincinnati, Secretary Owen Miller of St. Louis and the most of the other head officers of the federation will probably be re-elected.

The business sessions of the gathering will begin tomorrow and will be followed in the evening by the annual banquet. The only officers to be elected this year are the members of the board of management whose terms expire. On Thursday the delegates will go to Annapolis for the unveiling of a memorial tablet to the sailors of the Revolution, presented by the society to the United States Naval Academy. The unveiling will take place in Hancock hall of the academy. President Taft has promised to attend the ceremony and deliver an address.

Small Comfort.
 "I had a message from the Black Hand," said the resident of Grattburg. "They told me to leave $2,000 in a vacant house in a certain street."
 "Did you tell the police?"
 "Right away."
 "What did they do?"
 "They said that while I was about it I might leave them a couple of thousand in the same place."—Washington Star.

Last year I heard the doctors' cries, and cheerfully obeyed; they said that I should await the ill, and then I made a raid upon the buzzing, harmless things at Science's behest; I broke their backs and spelt their wings, and knocked them galley west.

And ever, as I slushed away, and soaked the little flies, a voice within me seemed to say: "Take some one of your size." And sometimes when the night was dark, sat beneath the trees, and passing zephyrs seemed to sigh: "Why don't you wait the bees?" Why don't you wait those festive scum upon the homestead track? You know that they have stung or stung, and they would wait you back? Why don't you wait the wasps, my friend, and drive the blundering thing hence? Because you fear its business end, whose voltage is immense. No, thinks you are a ten-cent dub. I hear the zephyrs sigh, "Take take a big spotted elm club and swat a helpless fly." This year I will not swat or slap the flies, or do them harm; and when I'm hunting for a scrap I'll seek an ostrich farm.

PROBE IS HELD ILLEGAL

COURT DECLARES LORIMER IN-QUIRY BY LEGISLATIVE COM-MITTEE IS VOID.

ORDERS RELEASE OF TILDEN

Habeas Corpus Writs Issued in Contempt Proceedings Are Sustained and Bankers Will Not Have to Appear Before State Senate.

Chicago, May 8.—Judge A. J. Pettit sustained the writs of habeas corpus issued to prevent Edward Tilden, George M. Benedict, and William C. Cummings, all of Chicago, from being taken before the bar of the Illinois senate to answer contempt charges, and also declared the investigation being conducted by the Illinois committee at Springfield, into the election of Senator William Lorimer was without warrant of law.

He ordered the immediate release of the rotators and assessed the costs of the hearing against the senate, every contention of the attorneys for the senate being denied.

Right of Appeal Conceded.
One concession was made, however—the right of appeal made possible by the entry of judgment for costs against the respondents.

If the case is reviewed by some appellate tribunal, it will be appealed in the name of E. H. Hatfield, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the senate, who served the warrants on the packer and his associates more than a week ago. Taking immediate advantage of this entry, John J. Healy, counsel for the Illinois committee, prayed for appeal and was allowed ten days in which to file a bill of exceptions. The motion was granted and bond of $250 was required of the appellant.

It is conceded by those most closely connected with the investigation of the Lorimer scandal that this decision of Judge Pettit practically means the end of the Illinois committee's activities, although a meeting of the committee will be held in Springfield Tuesday.

Hinges on the Testimony.
Whether the investigation will proceed, it is stated, will depend largely upon the nature of the testimony brought out by the witnesses who have been subpoenaed to appear on that day. If they develop nothing of particular interest and there is no new news developed, it is believed the committee will occupy its time with the compilation of its report to be submitted to the senate just before the adjournment of that body, which has been set for May 15.

Time Factor Is Potent.
As the proposition stands the hearing before Judge Pettit cannot be reviewed in a higher court, if at all, much before the adjournment of the senate, in which event there would be no opportunity for a continuation of the investigation, as the Illinois committee, under the resolution granting it, would cease to exist at that time. It has been repeatedly suggested by several of the senators, however, that the senate may possibly determine to take a vacation for the summer instead of adjourning also, thereby continuing the existence of the probing body. If then Mr. Healy was successful in having the decision of Judge Pettit reversed Tilden and the other witnesses could be brought before the committee and compelled to testify and produce their books showing their financial transactions during the five months in 1903 when the $100,000 "shush" fund is alleged to have been collected and disbursed.

JANESVILLE ROMPED AWAY FROM BELOIT

LINE CITY NINE GIVEN TERRIBLE LACING HERE YESTERDAY, 22 TO 5.

PITCHER HIT FREELY

And Rest of Beloit Team Failed To Give Him Proper Support, Giving the Game To the Janesville Players.

Pitcher Moon and his able associates from Beloit, eight in number, presented the Janesville baseball team with the game yesterday in the first contest of the season at the Fair Grounds, the final score being 22 to 5. The local pastimers made nine runs off Moon's hurling and were given three scores by the Beloit nine on errors and poor playing. The game was almost a farce and a good many of the fans went away disgusted at the poor exhibition Beloit gave. Moon, it is said, had not worked out before this season and told Manager Stokes of Beloit, but was not in the game despite this. The visitors' lineup revealed those of Glenn Carthus when he went up in the air in the first stanza. The Janesville batters fell on his delivery for seven runs in the opening inning.

He lightened up in the second and held Janesville to two hits in the inning. Again in the sixth he started availing and Janesville scored four more tallies in that inning, repeated in the seventh and duplicated the first inning with seven more tallies in the eighth inning. Poor support by his team mates in pinch places, added Janesville in scoring so freely. Guller who went in for Moon in the sixth, made no better showing than his predecessor.

Butters, a local boy, was on the slab for the home team and put up a fine game. His support too was excellent and at no stage of the contest was there any danger of Beloit's creeping near to a tie. Smith, formerly of the Lake Shore League, took the box in the sixth, but as Butters was holding Beloit well, and Smith had a sore arm, it was thought best to let Butters finish the game.

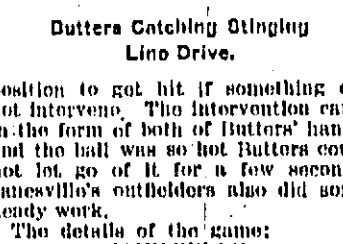

Eleven men batted for Janesville in the first inning, owing to the generosity of Beloit, and in the sixth and eighth innings, Janesville's full quota of men were allowed to face the Beloit pitcher. While this kindness was appreciated on behalf of the Janesville team it did not add any to the interest of the game and failed to secure an ovation from the fans. The Beloit batters invariably found the ball ground.

Pitcher Butters was the plaudits of the crowd and incidentally saved Umpire Miller from a severe lashing in the solar plexus when he caught a stinging line fly off the bat of Pledger Guller in the fifth inning. The ball was low, but Miller, who was bent over watching the plays closely was in position to get hit if something did not intervene. The intervention came in the form of both of Butters' hands, and the ball was so hot Butters could not let go of it for a few seconds. Janesville's outfielders also did some handy work.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

NOW boys, just a moment! You've all had your say. While enjoying yourselves in so pleasant a way. We've toasted our sweethearts, our friends and our wives. We've toasted each other wishing all merry lives!

"It's one in a million and outshines the rest; Don't frown when I tell you this toast beats all others— But drink one more toast, boys, a toast to 'Our Mothers'!"

One of my correspondents has asked me to tell something of the origin and meaning of "Mothers' Day."

"Mothers' Day" was inaugurated by the churches of Minneapolis during the Chapman-Alexander evangelist campaign there.

It was suggested by Dr. Henry A. Ostrom, whose own mother had died about a year before this time, and who felt that the young people might be especially touched and the old people honored and pleased by the observance of such a day.

"Mothers' Day" was celebrated first on April 12 and is supposed to be celebrated every year on the Sunday nearest to that day.

The idea of the evangelists was to have a day especially devoted to mothers just as "Children's Day" is devoted to the children. On this day in the churches which celebrate it a sermon is preached especially for mothers and great efforts are made by special invitation and the use of carriages and automobiles to bring out the older women who would not otherwise get there.

The flower dedicated to this day is the white pink. The churches are decorated with them. Sprays of white pink are sent to the sick and shut-in mothers and the younger people are all supposed to wear a white pink in memory of or respect for their mothers.

Don't you think it is a beautiful idea? I do. My only wonder is that no one thought of it before.

"Mothers' Day" is primarily a church holiday, but please don't let that prevent those of you who are not affiliated with any church from feeling that it is up to you to help celebrate it.

If you still have your mother right in the home with you, why not make the day one of special kindness and thoughtfulness for her, a day when you do not say a single cross or impatient word, a day when you give some unexpected caress that will mean so much to her, and say some unexpectedly tender thing about what a very wonderful mother you happen to have.

If you are separated from your mother why not take a day to surprise her by bridging the distance between you, if it is possible.

And if that is not possible, you can at least write an unusually tender and loving letter that shall send a glad thrill of sweet surprise to her heart when she receives it.

Some, I know, are reading this and thinking, "Ah if I only COULD do some of these things. But my mother"—and then the eyes fill with tears of aching memory, and the heart—no matter how blankless—accuses itself, "if I had only been kinder."

Dear boys, "Mothers' Day" must be a sad day for you, of course, but why not at least atone for your Mother's Bible, going to your Mother's church, and by performing your loving kindness to some other mother, "somebody's mother" as lovingly for a lost son or daughter as you for your lost one.

In this way there shall be three made happier—the lonely mother, yourself and—yes, I believe it—the little mother in heaven who will be surely smiling down in approval.

MAKE A BIGGER PLACE FOR YOURSELF.

Don't grumble because you're not filling as large a place in the world as you think you should. Don't find fault with the obscurity of others which prevents them from seeing just how brilliant you are.

Don't put others down as dolls because they do not understand all you are capable of accomplishing.

Rather hold a little self-examination. Look in the things with a calm, cold eye. Analyze and dissect your ideas and your motives. If you will. Make both look as if they had gone through a veritable mill before you get through with them, but don't neglect to look for the real cause of your non-advancement. You'll find it if you only look hard enough for it, and you will undoubtedly find it in your own lack of concentration.

When you were in school you marvelled that paper could be made to burn by merely placing it under the proper kind of a glass. At first it was a mysterious demonstration to you. After a while you learned it came about through the concentration or the focusing of the sun's rays upon a small surface.

The illustration may be aptly applied to your own endeavors. If you want to "burn things up" in the way of making a notable place for yourself in the world you must focus your attention upon the thing you have adopted as your life work. You must concentrate your mind upon the task of learning all you can about the technical part of your work and applying your knowledge to the duties you have undertaken to perform.

Accuracy in thought makes for accuracy in performance and the combination makes for success in life—the only success that brings real satisfaction.

There are a lot of people in this world who have the technical knowledge of their business at their fingers' ends, but who never gain any headway because they have not learned the art of applying that knowledge to the working out of the problems before them.

These are the people who make a failure of life. We often wonder why this man or that woman has remained on the lower rounds of success when they might have climbed higher. We do not realize that they failed to put forth the kind of energy that would have lifted them to the higher rounds.

Now none of us can secure the larger place unless we are willing to work for it. Luck plays a mighty small part in the affairs of men; work practically everything. "The surest way to get a larger place is to make our service ill and overflow the place we occupy," said Josiah Strong.

And that is just it. We must be so full of accomplishment that we fairly overflow. There are plenty of places at the top, but they must be earned before they can be occupied. They must be fought for before they are won. Men at the heads of big concerns are constantly on the lookout for capable persons—both men and women, but they want workers who know how to do things in the best, the easiest and the most efficient way.

KATHERINE KIP.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.

May 8.—When the English government allowed the building of the Confederate ship "Alabama" in one of the English shipyards, they did not know how costly a bit of construction it was going to prove. If they had it is likely that the "Alabama" would have had some trouble securing clearance papers. But she didn't. Instead she sailed out on the ocean blue and began picking up anything that would come in handy for the confederacy. This was so annoying to Uncle Sam that he sent the U. S. cruiser Kearsage to argue with the rover. There was a meeting at Cherbourg, France, and in neutral water both ships engaged in what was naturally a battle to the death. When it was over the "Alabama" was resting nicely on the bottom of the drink. Then when everything was settled and the dove of peace has returned to his cot, the U. S. handed John Bull a bill for damages for building a boat that had done so much damage. On May 8, 1871, the senate agreed on the form of arbitration that was conducted by five men—one American and one Englishman among them—that met at Geneva, Switzerland, and when they handed in their decision Mr. John Bull reached down into his jeans and handed your Uncle Samuel $15,000,000 in payment for what was covered by the title of "Alabama claims."

LOVE and smoke are unable to conceal themselves. No one who wants health wants everything.

Soups With Garnishes.

There is such a variety of soups that it is not hard to please the most fastidious. If one objects to meat soups, there are fruit and vegetable soups that are both refreshing and sustaining.

Olive Green (Myrtle Reed) says: "One who will take the life out of a cabbage need not hesitate at chicken or turkey, for cabbage has life, dominant, triumphant, compelling, penetrating life. Any one who lives in a flat may prove it by cooking a cabbage and listening in the court for remarks made by the other tenants. Anything lifeless could never be so forceful and powerful as cabbage, even in its last moments."

Spring Soup.—Cut a carrot and a small turnip into small shreds. Cook until tender in salted water, a half cup of asparagus tips and a half cup of green peas with the carrot and turnip. Drain, add six cups of hot beef stock, simmer until hot, season and serve.

Spanish Chicken Soup.—Boil three cups each of veal and chicken stock. Add a grated onion, a finely-minced carrot and two stalks of celery, chopped very fine. Add a cupful of barley, simmer until the barley is done, season to taste and serve. Rub through a sieve if desired.

Marrow Balls.—Take a piece of marrow the size of an egg, mix with one cupful of crumbs, add two unbroken eggs, shape into small balls and drop to cook in the boiling soup.

German Soup Balls.—Roll crackers very fine, mix with melted butter, roll into balls the size of a marble and drop into the soup just before serving.

Egg Custard.—Beat three eggs until light and foamy, add a cupful of beef stock. Butter a small pan and pour in the mixture. Set the pan into another one containing hot water and bake until the custard is firm. When cool cut in squares or any desired shape and serve in the soup. The custard should be seasoned with salt and cayenne before baking.

AN EXTRAORDINARY FAST.

Roland Moeller, age 24, completed the longest fast on record September 2, 59 days. His physicians believe that he has been permanently cured of a catarrhal affection which threatened to destroy his hearing. The weight was reduced from 145 to 85 pounds. In breaking the fast an hour and a half was taken in consuming a teaspoonful of orange juice, a drop at a time. The case was an extreme one, and it is very rarely, if ever, that so long a fast is to be advised.

To Win

By Byron Williams

A lass to win and a name to make— In the world that laughs at men— Ah, who shall faint in the burning sun Or pause with a vanquished pen? A lass to win and a name to make— And the great world's answers to bear, That who shall care for the taunts that come Or halt on the thorny stair?

For this is life, and the man who wins Is only the one who tries— Success is built on the throne of work That makes for the winning prize, That opens the way to a woman's heart And love in a woman's eyes!

Effective New Work.

An easy combination of materials that is being utilized for table covers, lamp mats, magazines and book covers and sofa pillows, is burlap with cut leather.

The design is cut from the leather, either suede or the soft glazed varieties, then is stitched to the burlap background, which shows a contrasting color.

Sometimes velvet is used instead of the leather, especially in sofa pillows and often along the line of stitching are sewn small brass or metal beads, to look like tiny nails.

Studying Good Pictures.
It is said that good music often heard will give pleasure even to those who did not like it at first, but heard in the light of some explanation as to its meaning the pleasure will be doubled. This, too, is much the same with pictures. If we study carefully even such reproductions as can be given in a book or the pages of a magazine and learn something about what they mean and how they were produced and the ideas they represent, we shall be well started toward some real appreciation of great paintings. Every true and vital thing we learn about any good picture helps us to judge correctly; all other pictures—Saint Nicholas.

Russian Wealth Unevenly Divided.
Income tax statistics for the czar's subjects show that of the empire's total population of 16,000,000 only about four hundred thousand have income running from $515 to $1,020 a year. On the other hand, 3,500 subjects have an aggregate of yearly incomes amounting to about $277,000,000, very nearly as much as the 400,000 who have $285,000,000.

TELLS REAL TRUTH ABOUT EVERGLADES

WONDERFUL COUNTRY ON BLUE
PRINTS BUT SWAMPS IN REALITY.

STORY OF VISIT THERE

Interesting Pen Picture of the Journey into This Wonderful Country
Made Recently.

The Everglades of Florida, which are being so freely exploited these days by northern land sharks, present an attractive appearance on blue prints, but the native, more or less familiar with the great swamp 200 miles long and from 25 to 50 miles wide, is not deceived, and if he has any money he is not investing in saw grass muck and coral soil.

The state of Florida extends from Pensacola, on the gulf, 300 miles east to Jacksonville on the Atlantic coast. This is the northern boundary line. The waters of both oceans encroach on the land and halfway down the state the width is reduced to 150 miles, while 250 miles further south, at Cape Sable, the two great bodies of water unite.

The two southern counties on the west coast of Florida are Lee and Monroe. The former extends from Fort Myers on the north, 50 miles south, to the 10,000 islands, and the latter covers the balance of the swamp and is practically uninhabited except for Key West, the county seat, 90 miles to the west of the main land.

The Florida Keys are located in Monroe county. They represent thousands of islands covered with a rank growth of mangrove and a tangle of roots which make them impenetrable. Occasionally one of these islands contains a little strip of "hammock land" which means land that is high enough so that the tides do not engulf it, and the man who possesses the hardihood to clear it at an expense of from $40 to $50 an acre may raise garden truck enough to supply his table.

To the east of the "Keys" is the "main land," or at least that is what they call it to distinguish it from the islands. It is a vast stretch of saw grass marsh and cypress swamp, so near sea level that during the rainy season, which extends from May until November, the water is two feet deep and wild turkeys abound in this forsaken country.

The white population of Monroe and the lower half of Lee county numbers less than 250, and is composed of fishermen and outlaws. The latter seek refuge in a land which no man can penetrate without a guide.

One of these noted characters by the name of Watson, who was wanted in half a dozen states for murder, was riddled with bullets by a posse of a dozen fishermen last October. His crime was the murder of two men and

The most noted Indian paldo among the Seminoles is Charley Tommy, straight as an arrow and more than six feet tall. Mr. Stroter has made many excursions through the Everglades with Charley Tommy, and knows more about the big swamp than any white man in Florida.

He has but little confidence in the drainage scheme now being conducted by the state, for he says that the lower half of the Everglades has a soil of muck about twelve inches deep which rests on a foundation of solid a woman, who offended him by demanding pay for work. The nearest officer was 100 miles away, at Key West, and so the fishermen took the law into their own hands, and Watson paid the penalty.

Mr. Stroter has a family of nine children. The little neighborhood of three or four families, to whom he furnishes employment, support a school and a church. The latter is occupied by missionaries who occasionally visit the section.

The family occupy a good sized house which stands on piles six feet from the ground on the banks of the Allen river. This house has always been above high water mark until the tidal wave of last October when a wall of water 11 feet high swept over the land and completely engulfed it. At midnight, when the storm was at its worst, the water came up to the floor of the house, and when the school rock of coral formation. He thinks that some land in the upper half of the big swamp may be redeemed, but doubts if it is worth the effort.

The Seminole Indians have long held undisputed claim and will continue to do so for many years to come, in spite of land lotteries, for it is not a white man's land, and never will be.

These Indians are peaceable and never quite so happy as when full of fire-water, which they call "Wymoke," and which they have learned to brew for themselves. They hunt through the swamp and live in tents, in villages, where the ground is above high water mark, and within reach of a trading post.

From Tallahassee, in the north, to the jumping off place at Cape Sable, the extreme southern point, the state of Florida is a crazy wild on land speculation, and it is bound to react to the detriment of the state.

Thousands of northern men are investing in it here and now town sites are being exploited all over the state. Up in Hernando county a northern man paid $250 for a town lot out in the pine and palmetto, four miles from nowhere. He happened to be in Florida last winter and went out to see his investment.

The place was anything but inviting, with not a house in sight. A gopher hole attracted his attention and pulling the deed out of his pocket he chuckled it into the hole and said to the occupant: "You seem to be in possession and are entitled to the title; here it is."

A Lakeland man said the other day: "I was out twelve miles on the flat lands one day last winter and found a couple of men staking out the land.

Asked what they were doing and they said: "Laying out a town site." I said, do you know anything about this land in the rainy season? and they said, "No." Well, I said, I do. It is two feet under water and no way to drain it. They laughed and said, "That's all right; we will sell out long before that."

The majority of northern people buy Florida land "unsight and unseen," and the most of them need a guardian. It is nothing more or less than a gold brick in many cases.

his mother's arms as she clung to a tree top which bent in the wind until it reached the water.

This storm, the first of its kind in forty years, destroyed about everything that was in sight. The land was so filled with salt that all vegetation was killed and the soil can only be redeemed by heavy rainfall.

EVANSVILLE WOMAN IS LAID AT REST

Mrs. Wilder, Dearly Beloved Resident of That City, Buried Yesterday
With Fitting Ceremonies.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, May 8.—The funeral services held in memory of Mrs. Allen Wilder were very largely attended by many friends who gathered to show their appreciation of her life. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. B. Conner, pastor of the Methodist church. Mrs. Wilder was an honored member of the order of Eastern Star and the members of this order attended in a body. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The pall bearers were Messrs. S. E. Barnard, George Magee, Edgar Smith, Eugene Hulse, Charles Doolittle and O. S. Shepard. Mrs. Wilder was born in Bristol, Wis., Oct. 18, 1867. At the age of ten years she removed with her parents, Eljah D. and Sarah V. Pease, to Sun Prairie, where she grew to womanhood. About twenty-five years ago she came to Evansville and for three or four years taught music. On June 20, 1890, she was united in marriage to Perry C. Wilder and they became the parents of two children, Martha and Marietta, who have the sympathy of the whole community in their loss.

Mrs. Wilder was taken ill last summer and since then she has been gradually failing. All through her illness she has been possessed of rare courage and one who has cared for her most tenderly for many weeks stated that she had not once heard her complain. Loving friends have kept her room filled with fragrant blossoms. These were a source of untold pleasure to the invalid, who appreciated them to the fullest. At the age of fifteen she united with the Methodist church of which she has ever remained a faithful and useful member. For a number of years she was president of the Ladies Aid Society and for upwards of twenty years was the leading soprano in the choir. Indeed the conservation of her voice was one of the noblest services she was enabled to render the church and her Savior.

Friends and relatives who were here from a distance to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Pease of Lehi, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Terry and Mrs. Wm. Campbell of Madison; Mrs. John Gibbons, Mrs. Mattie Cobb and Charles Hayden of Sun Prairie, and Mrs. Harry Bonney of Beloit.

INAUGURAL CHANGE IS CERTAIN.

Two-Thirds Majority of Congress Favor Last Thursday in April.

Washington, May 8.—A change of the date of the inauguration of the president is assured of ratification by the sixty-second congress, and it is not improbable that similar action will be taken to change the date of holding the national elections.

This assurance has been given by a two-thirds majority of both houses of congress to Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the house committee on rules, who introduced recently a joint resolution providing for the submission of this proposal to the legislatures of the states.

The proposed amendment of the Constitution of the United States changes the date of the inauguration from March 4, usually an inclement day in Washington, to the last Thursday in April.

The date of holding national elections would be changed from the first Tuesday in November to the first Tuesday in April preceding the expiration of the terms of the president and members of congress.

URGES CONFESSORIAL FOR ALL.

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon Says Protestant Pastors Should Hear Woe.

Topoka, Kan., May 8.—Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, pastor of the Central Congregational church and author of "In His Steps," believes that every pastor of a Protestant church should have a confessional, where the members of his flock could pour their troubles into a willing ear and receive wholesome advice.

He does not intend that his proposal should be in the nature of that of the Catholic church, where forgiveness of sin is given by the father confessor. It would be a place where those laden with cares and tribulations could unload their burdens.

"The confessional is not entirely a spiritual matter," said Rev. Mr. Sheldon. "It is a place where people can carry their troubles—business, spiritual and religious, family affairs and purely personal matters."

EDDY TOMB IS TO EXCEL ALL.

Christian Scientists Are to Erect a Magnificent Monument.

Boston, May 8.—Christian Scientists are to erect one of the most magnificent monuments in the world over the grave of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy in Mount Auburn cemetery in Cambridge. Plans are being prepared by several designers, and within a few weeks they will be submitted to the directors of the mother church in Boston.

The body of Mrs. Eddy rests, her medically sealed, in a mass of cement, and it is the plan to build the monument directly over the body.

ONE CHILD DEAD; 60 HOMELESS.

Building of Methodist Orphanage Burned at Lake Bluff, Ill.

Waukegan, Ill., May 8.—One child is dead and sixty rendered homeless by a fire which destroyed the Methodist Orphanage at Lake Bluff. The dead child is Richard Miller, two years old. Extreme fright is given as the direct cause of the child's death although there are some who say he was suffocated by dense smoke.

A man died at Hanley, England, under curious circumstances lately. While a boiler was being stacked at the Deep Pit, two loud explosions took place. They were caused by the automatic opening of a valve, but Samuel Raybould, one of the stokers, exclaimed: "That's frightened me to death," and, falling, he instantly expired.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Well, Grace seems to be getting some sense into her head at last!

(Copyright, A. C. McClurg &amp; Co., 1910.)

"The Lord deliver us!" was the instant exclamation, the door opening wide. "They do be either tellin' me to-night, or the trouble ye was in over at Carson, an' Ol' Iought maybe ye might turn up this way. It was a neat trick ye played on the folks av 'em, Jack, but this is a dom poor place for ye to be in. Dead, there's a half-dozen in the parly now talkin' about it, wid a couple av officers from the fort. Is the nager wid ye?"

"Yes, but we have no intention of hidin' here. I'd rather take my chance in the open. The fact is, Kate, we started off for the 'Bar X'."

"Av, course, ye did. Ol' was shure av it."

"But down on the Salt Fork we ran across a young girl whom Black Bart had inveigled down that way on a lie. We had a bit of a fight, and got her away from him. This is what brought us back here—to put the girl where she will be safe out of his clutches."

The door was wide open now, and Mrs. Murphy outside, her interest at fever heat.

"Ye had a fight wid Black Bart? Oh, ye devil! An' ye licked the dirty spalpane, an' got away wid his grull! Glory, be! And would Ol' take her? Well, Ol' would. Never doubt that, me boy. She may be the quene av Phaba, an' she may be a Digger Indian Squaw, but the folks av him had better kape away from Kate Murphy. It's glad Ol' am ter do it, I'm ter say. Ol' don't want ter hear no more."

"Just a word, Kate; I don't know whether she has any money or not, but I'll pay her bill, as soon as it is safe for me to come back."

"Oh, the devil take her bill. She'll have the best in the house, anyhow, an' Ol' am only hopin' that fellow will turn 'up huntin' her. Ol' d like ter take one slap at the spalpane."

Fully convinced as to Mrs. Murphy's good-will, Keith slipped back into the darkness, and returned with the girl. Introductions were superfluous, as the mistress of the Occidental cared little regarding ceremony.

"An' is this you, my dear?" she burst out, endeavoring to curb her voice to secretive softness. "Shure, Jack Keith has told me all about it, an' it's safe it is yer goin' ter be here. Come on in; Ol' give ye number forty-two, that's next behind me own room, an' we'll go up the back stairs. Hup the young laddy, Jack, fer shure ye know the way."

She disappeared, evidently with some hospitable purpose in view, and Keith, clasping the girl's hand, undertook the delicate task of safely escorting her through the dark kitchen, and up the dimly remembered stairs. Only a word or two passed between them, but as they neared the second story a light suddenly streamed out through the opened door of a room at their left. Mrs. Murphy greeted them at the landing, and for the first time saw the girl's weary white face, her eyes filled with appeal, and the warm Irish heart responded instantly.

"To poor little lamb; it's the bid ye want, an' a dhrap o' whiskey, Jack Keith, why didn't ye tell me she was done up wid the hard ride? Here, honey, sit down in the rocker till Ol' get ye a wee drink. I'll bring the roses back to the cheeks av ye." She was gone, bustling down the dark stairs, and the two were alone in the room, the girl looking up into his face, her head resting against the cushioned back of the chair. He thought he saw a glimmer of tears in the depths of her lach-shaded eyes, and her round white throat seemed to choke.

"You will be perfectly secure here," he said, soothingly, "and can remain as long as you please. Mrs. Murphy will guard you as though you were her own daughter. She is a bit rough, maybe, but a big-hearted woman, and despises Hawley. She nursed me once through a touch of typhoid—yes, by Jove," glancing about in sudden recognition, "and in this very room, too."

The girl's glance wandered over the plain, neat furnishings, and the rather pathetic attempts at decoration, yet ing at it as though fascinated. "It was the jacket Keith had taken from the neck of the dead man at Cimmaron Crossing. Her nerveless fingers pressed the spring, and the painted face within looked up into her own, and still clasping it within her hand, she sank upon her knees, burying her face on the bed.

"Where did he get that?" her lips kept repeating. "Where did he ever get that?"

CHAPTER XV.

Again Christie MacLair.

Keith possessed sufficient means for several months of idleness, and even if he had not, his reputation as a plains scout would insure him employment at any of the more important scattered army posts. Reliable men for such service were in demand. The restlessness of the various Indian tribes, made specially manifest by raids on the more advanced settlements, and extending over a constantly widening territory, required continuous interchange of communication between commanders of detachments. Bold and reckless spirits had flocked to the frontier in those days following the Civil War, yet all were not of the type to encourage confidence in military authorities. Keith had already frequently served in this capacity, and abundantly proved his worth under rigorous demands of both endurance and intelligence, and he could feel assured of permanent employment whenever desired. Not a few of the more prominent officers he had met personally during the late war—including Sheridan, to whom he had once borne a flag of truce—yet the spirit of the Confederacy still lingered in his heart; not in any feeling of either hatred or revenge, but in an unwillingness to serve the blue uniform, and a memory of antagonism which would not entirely disappear. He had surrendered at Appomattox, conquered, yet he could not quite adjust himself to becoming companion-in-arms with those against whom he had fought valiantly for four years. Some of the wounds of that conflict still smarted. A natural soldier, anxious to help the harassed settlers, eager enough to be actively employed, he still held aloof from army connections except as a volunteer in case of emergency.

Just now other considerations caused him to desire freedom. He had been accused of murder, imprisoned for it, and in order to escape, had been compelled to steal horses, the most heinous crime of the frontier. Not only for his own protection and safety must the truth of that occurrence at the Cimmaron Crossing be made clear, but he also had now a personal affair with "Black Bart" Hawley to be permanently settled. They had already clashed twice, and Keith intended they should meet again.

Memory of the girl was still in his mind as he and Neb rode silently forth on the black prairie, leading the extra horse behind him. He endeavored to drive the recollection from his mind, so he might concentrate it upon plans for the future, but somehow she mysteriously wore her own personality into those plans, and he was ever feeling the pleading in her eyes, and listening to the soft Southern accent of her voice. Of late years he had been unaccustomed to association with women of high type, and it was that touch of the gentleness about this girl which had awakened deep interest. Of course he knew that in her case it was merely an inheritance of her past, and could not truly represent the present Christie MacLair of the music halls. However fascinating she might be, she could not be worthy any serious consideration. In spite of his rough life the social spirit of the old South was implanted in his blood, and no woman of that class could hold him captive. Yet, some way, she refused to be banished or left behind. Even Neb must have been obsessed by a similar spirit, for he suddenly observed:

"Dat am cuttin' a mighty fine trail, Massa Jack. I ain't seen nothin' to compare wid her since I quit ol' Virginia—dead I ain't."

Keith glanced back at his black satellite, barely able to distinguish the fellow's dim outlines.

"You think her a lady, then?" he questioned, giving thoughtless utterance to his own imagination.

"Dead I does!", the thick voice somewhat indignant. "I reckon I knows de real quality when I sees it. I've 'scolated wid quality white folks befo'."

"But, Neb, she's a singer in dance halls."

"I don't believe it, Massa Jack." (To Be Continued.)

Cocoon Culture.

Eight years are required to bring the average cocoon tree into bearing. There are usually 60 or 70 trees to the acre and the profits from cocoon culture are usually good.

What city (U. S.)?

Improved Motorcycles.

By recent changes made in the design of the motorcycle its appearance is greatly improved by making use of the tubes of the frame for the storage of many of the parts which are now hung to it. For this purpose it is necessary to make the tubing a trifle heavier.

What metal?

Rooster Hard to Kill.

A Buff Orpington rooster, missing for three weeks, was found wedged in the wooden foundation of a haystack at Stanford, Kent, England. The bird was as thin as a lath, but now is crowing as lustily as ever. It was twenty days without food.

Really Hard Luck.

Four men were sympathizing with each other at an uptown hotel, according to the New York Sun. They were employees pretty well up on the staff list and two of them were assistant managers. They had indorsed checks for acquaintances that they supposed were all right, and, according to the rule, had to make good. "I'm worse stuck than any of you," said the chief engineer. "The check I got stuck on was for $114 and the man who signed it is in jail."

For a Sprain or Bruise.

As usually treated, a sprain or bruise will often disable the injured person for a month or more, but by applying Meritol Snow-White Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle faithfully, a cure may be effected in many cases in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation. Try it for a sprain or bruise, or when laid up with chronic or muscular rheumatism, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. ## Our Agencies Dot the Earth

Schlitz was brewed first in a hut over sixty years ago. Now our output exceeds a million barrels a year. Our agencies dot the earth.

More and more people every year are demanding Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles.

In our brewery we spend more on purity—in time—in skill—in money—than on any other cost in our brewing.

We scald every tub, keg and barrel—every pipe and pump—every time we use it. We wash every bottle four times by machinery. Even the air, in which the beer is cooled, is filtered.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."
